Thanks for your quick response Lynn. If I may mention, the last I remember is that there was proposed legislation that would hinder reporting releases from animal waste as hazardous. Is that correct, and if so, what's the status of that issue?

Hi Aaron,

Hope you are also doing well.

The status of the CERCLA/EPCRA Animal Waste rule is that we are waiting for the Emissions Estimating Methodologies (EEMs) from the National Air Emissions Monitoring Study (NAEMS) to be completed. Currently they are under Science Advisory Board (SAB) review. Unfortunately, I don't have a date for when they will be completed.

Good morning Lynn.

I trust this email will find you doing well. I am meeting with our EJ in rulemaking subgroup this afternoon and need to provide an update on the actions I'm currently tracking. I'm hoping to obtain a status update on the CERCLA/EPCRA Animal Waste rule from you. Please offer any available information you're able to share regarding the state of the action development. Also, please let me know of any concerns.

Respectfully
